72 LORAIN COUNTY PERSONS INDICTED

3 CHARGED WITH MURDER; LIQUOR TOTERS FACE PEN

After a session lasting nine days the Lorain county grand jury made their report to Judge Thompson this morning. They have done the largest amount of work of any previous grand jury. They investigated ninety-five cases in all and returned indictments in 72 cases, and ignored 23. They also took the testimony of 265 witnesses which is another record.

Among the indictments of interest here is that of Mrs. Jessie Nagy on a charge of a third violation of the liquor laws. Mrs. Nagy's husband is now in the penitentiary on the same charge and is about ready for parole. It may be that she will take his place by being sent to the Marysville prison for women. Three indictments for murder were brot in, several indictments for rape, and several more for a third violation of the liquor laws. The prisoners are to be arraigned in court on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. The names of those made public, all of whom are either in jail or out on bond is as follows:

List of Indictments

George Pollard, Lorain, carrying concealed weapons.

James Pleasant, Lorain, murder.

George Fekerbary, Lorain, illegal possession of liquor.

Peter Kruppas, Lorain, illegal possession of liquor.

John Corranti, Lorain, shooting to kill or wound.

Roy Dolson, Lorain, burglary and larceny.

Elmer Lowe, Ridgeville, assault and battery.

PASS THE "LIE" IN STOKES TRIAL

Chauffeur Tells of Driving Mrs. Stokes Six Times to "Love Nest"

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—A terrific uproar was created in the courtroom today when Elmer E. Henshaw, a chauffeur, testified in the trail of W. E. D. Stokes' suit for divorce from his pretty wife, Helen Elwood Stokes, that he and his mistress had been "improperly friendly." Henshaw was formerly employed by Mrs. Stokes.

Shouts Denial

Mrs. Stokes shouted her denial of this, as her attorneys tried to quiet her. She was weeping hysterically.

"How much are you getting from Stokes?" shouted Untermyer.

"Nothing," replied the witness.

"You deliberately tried to make this jury believe that Mrs. Stokes had committed adultery, didn't you?" demanded Untermyer.

"O, I didn't," said Henshaw.

At this point Mrs. Miller returned to the courtroom shouting:

"Let me at this man. I'm going to get a gun."

Untermyer rushed across the courtroom.

"Don't, don't," he begged. But the hysterical mother would not be quieted.

The courtroom was in uproar. Several of the jurors were standing up in the box and nobody was paying any attention to Justice Mahoney's rapping for order.

"Courts adjourned," he said as it appeared impossible to restore order. It was noon anyway.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—W. E. D. Stokes, 73 year old millionaire, judge of fine horses and beautiful women, delivered a surprising blow today in his battle involving his millions and a divorce from his beautiful young wife, Helen Elwood Stokes.

Elmer E. Henshaw, chauffeur for Mrs. Stokes during her life with Stokes, testified that on at least six occasions, he had driven the pretty defendant to the "love nest" alleged to have been maintained by Wallace, the co-respondent named by Stokes.

Five Year Battle.

The story of the ages was being enacted again here today—man against woman; husband against wife; December against May—Wm. Earl Dodge Stokes, 73, millionaire clubman, judge of fine horses and beautiful women, against his wife, Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, mother of his children, forty years his junior.

Outside the tribunal of Supreme Court Justice Mahoney crowds—mostly women and girls—pleaded for admission to the divorce drama, with its lurid patternings.

Inside, the five-year legal battle—Stokes 'effort to paint his wife in colors of scarlet; Mrs. Stokes' defense for honor—went into its third day, with new promises of surprise and sensations.

Stokes has spent two frettish days in court.

He had heard his own star witness—Nell Rose Miller, negro servant, who told of seeing Mrs. Stokes, dressed only in flimsy undergarments in the apartment of another man—admit she had lied; had committed brigamy; then deny it; fall into the legal traps set for her

FRUSTRATE PLOT ON ROUMANIA CABINET

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Bucharest police have discovered a plot to assassinate the Roumanian cabinet, said a Bucharest despatch to the Daily Mail today. Many arrests have been made. Students are said to be the ringleaders, but many high personages are believed to be involved. The present Roumanian government is conservative, having overturned the communist government which preceded it.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS PERFECT POST

Gold Star Mothers Who Made Greatest Sacrifice to Help Name Post; Plan Auxiliary; Otto Mischka Named Commander

Post No. 1079 coming along with similar posts at Bucyrus, Wooster, and Ashland, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was instituted at a meeting held in the Council Chamber last evening.

Considerable enthusiasm was displayed by those present and a membership drive was decided upon with another meeting and the mustering in of new members called for next Tuesday night at the Council Chamber at which time Mayor A. R. Jones will extend welcome to the city of the new organization.

Plan Good Speeches

Prominent speakers are planned for other meetings including prominent Elyria orators, Oberlin College professors, State Commander Cook, J. F. Burke, republican candidate for governor and Congressman Martin L. Davey.

A speaker, some kind of entertainment or dance or theater party, and usualy a feed is contemplated for each meeting. Owing to the large number contemplating joining the Veterans of Foreign Wars meetings for awhile are planned to be held each Tuesday night. Anyone who has seen foreign service is invited to attend the meetings whether a member or not. Later it is planned to have meetings at which the mothers, wives and sweethearts of members will gather for a good fellowship meeting.

The charter will be held open until the middle of December, which will enable the names of all members up to that time to have their names engrossed upon the charter. No post name will be selected until this time which will also mark the annual election, the present officers holding temporarily for the two months.

Mothers Are Active

Gold Star mothers are asked to send the names of their beloved who paid the supreme sacrifice to the commander to help in selecting a name for the new post. What mother paid the biggest sacrifice? What family was the most patriotic? What comrade died the most heroic death? These will be taken into consideration when the post name is selected, not by a picked committee but by the entire membership. The district of the new post embraces all territory in Lorain county outside of Lorain and Oberlin. Many members will belong who reside in Wellington, Amherst, Grafton, LaGrange and the rural districts.

Several names have already been suggested for the post. The name of Mrs. George H. Chamberlain is strongly mentioned. She had three sons and two daughters in the service, did considerable war work herself and her husband

SIX TICKETS FOR ELECTION IN THIS CITY

Voters when they go to the polls in November will be confronted with not less than six tickets in this city, and as a consequence it is figured that voting will be slow and the election officials will have a long day of it before the votes are all counted.

There will be the Elyria city ticket, the board of education ticket, the township ticket, the referendum on the yellow line franchise and the referendum on the Taft bill and the Albaugh bill passed by the last legislature.

In the country districts there will be the township ticket, the board of education ticket, the judicial ticket for the election of Justice of the Peace, and the Taft and Albaugh referendum ticket. In two or three townships there will also be a vote on school bonds.

HOME OF MARSHAL AT STEUBENVILLE BOMBED, 3 INJURED

STEUBENVILLE, Oct. 10.—The residence of Charles Pearce, marshal of the village of Smithfield, this county, was dynamited at four o'clock this morning and completely demolished. Pearce, his wife and child were badly injured. Mrs. Pearce is believed to have sustained a broken back.

The village was rocked by the blast. Dynamite, placed under the front door of the Pearce home, blew the house off its foundation, its sides caved in and the roof fell through to the first floor.

Pearce and his family were sleeping in the front room on the second floor and were hurled from their beds, through the floor and fell in a heap amid the wreckage of their home. The wreckage caught fire and was partially destroyed before village firemen could extinguish the flames. Neighbors hurried to the Pearce home and assisted in extricating Pearce and his family from the wrecked building.

County authorities investigating the bombing this morning, are of the opinion that the dynamiting was done by an enemy of Pearce, probably someone who was prosecuted for liquor violation.

MINISTER SLAIN BY PASTOR'S WIFE

The murdered man, Rev. Basil Stetsuk, with his wife and two children, and, inset, Mrs. Emma Strutynsky, who killed Rev. Stetsuk.

Mrs. Emma Strutynsky, wife of a Ukaranian minister of Raney, Pa., near Harrisburg, is held by the police of Chicago for the murder of Rev. Basil Stetsuk in his Chicago church. Mrs. Strutynsky walked into the Greek church where Rev. Stetsuk was conducting services and fired four shots into his body, police charge.

START AGITATION FOR A NEW COUNTY COURT HOUSE HERE

The Lorain county grand jury made a report to Judge Thompson this morning as to the conditions now existing at the court house as they found it after a careful inspection. It is of common knowledge that the court house is crowded and is too small for the amount of business transacted there. The jury does not recommend the building or enlargement of the court house, but merely call attention to the needs of each office. Their report is as follows:

All Rooms Congested

"While the law of Ohio compels the Judge in his instructions to the Grand Jury to instruct such grand jury to inspect the county jail and inquire into the manner in which the same is conducted and as to the care of prisoners, etc., and you did so instruct us before the commencement to our duties of inquiring into crimes committed in Lorain County, and while it is not the duty of the Court to so instruct as to other public buildings in the county, as was stated by you, but the Court in suggesting a room to be used by us as a grand jury, very aptly commented on the condition of and lack of room in the present county court house, which was constructed many years ago, and which, owing to the great development of the county, has become inadequate for the purposes for which it was intended and desired.

"We have, therefore, on our own initiative, after listening to your observations with respect to the same, visited each and every office room in the court house, and briefly find the condition of the same to be about as follows:

"We are reliably informed that about the year 1906 the one court room provided for in the original building was divided into two court roms. At that time but one judge regularly held court in this county, but for many months in the year two judges were engaged, thus necessitating a second court room. For the past eight years or more two judges have been regularly sitting in this county, and, therefore, two court rooms are an absolute necessity for the Common Pleas Court, without taking into account the fact that when the Court of Appeals is in session one of the Common Pleas judges is deprived of the use of a court room and has to hold court in the Law Library or in his private office.

Building Inconvenient

"As originally constructed, no provision was made for judges' chambers, which should properly be at the rear of the bench, so that the Judge can enter the court room from his own room. Two official stenographers are now assigned to court room work, but

REGISTRATION DAYS SET FOR OCTOBER 19-20

Registration days will be held in this city on October 19 and 20. All voters who have not registered since the last presidential election and all voters who have moved since the last election will have to do so if they expect to vote this fall. The various voting booths are to be open from 8 a. m. to 2 p. m. and from 4 to 9 p. m.

YANK MINSTREL SHOW NOV. 8 AND 9

Leaders Named for Home Talent Production Already Bubbling Over With Surprises

A regular bi-monthly meeting of Elyria Post No. 12, the American Legion, was held last evening in the Legion rooms. There was an exceptional attendance and several new members were accepted.

The meeting was a typical ex-service men's meeting, full of pep and keen interest from start to finish. Various commitees reported progress on their respective duties. The report of progress of the plans for the proposed Legion Minstrel Show was especially interesting. Virgil Jasper has been appointed general manager of the show, while Harold Birch will lead the program committee; Geo. Robson, Jr., the publicity committee; Roy Hultz, the ticket sales committee, and Leonard Terry, the talent committee. The show will be staged at the Rialto theatre on Thursday and Friday evenings, November 8 and 9. It is hoped to be a show, in as far as possible, which ex-service men only will take part. A contract for producing the show has been consummated with the Columbus Producing Co., of which H. E. Stutz of Elyria, is the manager. All the latest costumes, newest song hits, dances and jokes, good talent and many sensations and surprises are promised. At both of the previous Legion minstrel shows capacity houses were produced by Elyrians, which shows that Elyrians are strong for the boys of the World war and it is hoped that a capacity house will be had this years as in the past.

Another event of the evening was the presentation of a typewriter to the Post by A. J. Lehman. Needless to say, the boys gave him a rising vote of thanks for his gift.

It was also decided to hold an election for Post officers for next year immediately after the staging of the minstrel show and that the evening of such election should take the form of a smoker and party.

NEGRO NEW COMERS BANNED FROM CITY

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 10.—All negroes known as "new comers" in Stowe township, just below this city, and a populous section, were in flight this forenoon from their home in that locality following an urgent ultimatum by a vigilance committee with a strength of between 500 and 800, to be out of there by 7:30 o'clock tonight or force would be used to remove them. Chief of police Duff, reported all the negroes ordered out of town had departed. Each negro was served with a written notice. Early today windows of several dwellings had been smashed with bricks or stones.

WOMAN HANGED IN TOT MURDER

GLASGOW, Oct. 10.—Mrs. John Newell, convicted of the murder of 13 year old John Johnstone, was hanged here this morning.

CHARGES ABANDONMENT

William J. Strickler, of Lorain, has filed a divorce suit against his wife. He states they were married in 1918. They lived together for six weeks when she left him taking the household furniture and went to live in another city with her first husband. Later she returned and lived with him for two months, and again abandoned him. He asks a complete divorce from her.

WILCOX RITES THURSDAY

The funeral of Miss Phyllis Wilcox will be held at the home of her mother in LaGrange, Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Friends are invited.

60,000 PRESENT BREAK RECORDS; IDEAL WEATHER

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—More than sixty thousand, who cannot seem to take their bromide or let it alone, sat in this afternoon for the 1923 premiere of New York's annual nuisance, otherwise known as the world's series between the Giants and Yankees. The crowd broke all records for single game attendance at the post season classic. Thus confounding volunteer pallbearers who declared in advance that New York's interest, if any had grown tepid.

It was, they said, to be only another case of the contempt bred of familiaritq, this third straight meeting of the Giants and Yankees in a world's series, with little or no change in the cast of characters since 1921. Yet hundreds of semisane individuals stood through the watches of the night outside the stadium gates that they might enjoy the privilege of paying for seats in the unreserved seations. All boxes and reserved seats were sold days ago, indicating vast indifference on the part of the public.

A golden day, such as poets chant about, and seldom see, rewarded the all night vigil of those who waited for the gates to open at 10 o'clock. They came in on the run, rushing the bleacher seats in right field in the hope of snaring Babe Ruth's first home run, if Mr. McGraw's pitchers will permit the noble one to so indulge himself.

LINE UP OF TEAMS

YANKEE STADIUM, N. Y., Oct. 10.—The Yankees and Giants lined up as follows for this afternoon's game:

Giants. Bancroft, ss.; Groh, 3b.; Frisch, 2b.; Young, rf.; E. Meusel, lf.; Stengel, cf.; Kelly, 1b.; Gowdy, c.; Watson, p.

Yankees: Witt, cf.; Dugan, 3b.; R. Meusel, lf.; Pipp, 1b.; Ward, 2b.; Schang, c.; Scott, ss.; Hoyt, p.

Giants First on Field

At 12:30, however, the Giants gave the customers a slight thrill by stalking majestically on the field

JOHN PLAS, 8, HIT BY AUTO

John Plas, an eight-year-old boy, was accidentally struck by an automobile or tractor yesterday about six o'clock p. m. as he walked down a country road near his home in LaGrange. He was taken to Memorial hospital where it was learned that he suffered bruises about the face and body and complained of pains in the abdomen.

278 JOIN "Y" ON FIRST DAY

State Goal of 700 Members Expected to Be Passed

With two hundred seventy-eight as a total after the first day's work, the local Y. M. C. A. membership campaign got off with a flying start at the first report dinner at the "Y" last night, and "Arthur Mometer" the genial scoring device situated at the corner of Middle and Broad indicated today that the local association has traveled more than a third of the way toward its state goal of 700 members.

Although there were two teams whose reports were not turned in at all last night, the first day's work was gratifying to those in charge of the campaign, and with a full report of all teams at the dinner tonight the total is expected to climb higher and higher.

Eighty-five members were turned in by the workers last night in a contest that was neck and neck between the two competing divisions. The severest kind of rivalry existed at the meeting and the Blue Blood division, lead by Generals Timms and Pope, took a lead of the Red Blood Division, lead by Webber and Chapman, by the very narrow margin of two memberships. The men's teams in the two divisions turned in twenty-two and twenty-one memberships respectively while the boys' teams were separated by an equal number, nineteen to twenty.

The highest individual scores made in the first day were those of George Pope, general of the Blue Blood boys of the men's teams who secured a total of six.

After an enthusiastic meeting the workers pledged themselves to the task of turning in at least two hundred more members at the meeting tonight which marks the half-way point in the four-day campaign. With that kind of a report continuing throughout the drive Elyria seems sure to place high among the associations of the state in their competitive campaigns.

Workers will meet at the "Y" tonight at 6:30 for their second report.

FIRE CHIEF NOW INSPECTOR OF CITY SMOKE

Fire Chief Wallace Bates, who also had the position of smoke inspector wished on him by the city council, reports that he is now ready to make smoke inspections for those who desire.

Yesterday he received an umbrascope, or in other words, a smoke tester. It is a small instrument that determines the density of smoke from a chimney by looking through it. The smoke ordinance is now in effect but the penalty provided in the ordinance does not take effect until November 21. The council gave owners of factories, the hospital, and business places six months in which to install smoke consumers. After the expiration of that time the penalty will be imposed on those found guilty of violating the ordinance.

FOREST FIRES IN WISCONSIN PERILS TOWNS, NAVIGATION

SUPERIOR, Wis., Oct. 10.—The northwestern wooded territory was threatened today by the most serious forest fires that have visited the section since 1918. Superior was practically hemmed in but not in danger. Smaller towns nearby, however, were menaced.

At Ontonagon, Mich., according to reports, inhabitants spent the night alert. Many persons kneeled in their homes and prayed. Fully sixty square miles of timber land in Ontonagon county were ablaze and a stiff breeze fanned the flames reports said.

The town of Green, Mich., was menaced. Reports from Houghton said several farm houses had been destroyed.

Refugees were being cared for in school houses and in some instances in barns.

One child was reported to have been burned to death.

Navigation on Lake Superior was seriously hampered, due to dense clouds of smoke which made the air thick. Freighters were keeping far off shore. The North Lake, a large boat, ran ashore, but was pulled off by cutters. Captains reported they were able to see only about 300 feet ahead of their ships.

Prospects of halting the flames were disheartening. Forecasts were for fair weather. A heavy rain would be necessary to quench the flames.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1923.

BOOST THE Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. is in the midst of a campaign for membership. This campaign is to last only four days, but we are sure that during those four days Elyria will know that there is a large group of enthusiastic supporters of this worthy institution.

The Young Men's Christian Association is filling a tremendous need in the lives of a large number of boys and young men. It is possible for it to reach and affect the lives of many more than it now does. Its work is physical developing, mental training, character building. It recognizes the all-aroundness of the man and realizes that real religion means symmetrical development.

The membership fee in the light of the swimming pool, gymnasium and social facilities of the institution is almost negligible. You can have your boy receive the benefits of the Y. M. C. A. in membership for the small sum of five dollars. With the older men, the price advances, but in no case is it high. Putting it on the low order of cash pay, we know of nothing in Elyria or outside of it from which so much of actual material benefit can be obtained for the amount of money paid in than one can receive from the Y. M. C. A.

The benefits, that are incidental to the Y. M. C. A. as local leadership toward the development of the best there is in the young men, are of incalculable value.

Let us all boost the Y. M. C. A. and put over this membership campaign in a manner excelling the campaigns heretofore.

GENERAL WOOD IN THE PHILIPPINES

General Wood seems to have fallen out of favor with the Philippine leaders and people. He is charged with being autocratic and disrespectful toward the people in general.

General Wood is a soldier. It is very doubtful if a soldier ever makes a good civil governor. The very nature of his calling makes command and implicit obedience a part of his life. It is very different ordering an army, in which men are supposed, in the interest of efficiency, to submit unquestioningly to their superiors, and ordering a civilian population, endowed at least with a partial independence, and a group of leaders having their confidence. President Wilson, in giving his consent to French military occupation of the Rhine by the allied armies, insisted upon a civilian commission under which the army should act. Military control has always been irksome and irritating.

We do not presume to know all the facts in the Philippine situation; but in general it can be stated, that a governor who becomes persona non grata and loses the confidence of the people over whom he has been set must sooner or later retire. Even the Roman government, in the days of its greatest power, insisted that a procurator set over a subject people should maintain the confidence of the people. When Mr. Taft was governor of the Philippines, his tact, his good nature, and his unfailing courtesy, did much to make the people there forget that they were a subject people.

We have solemnly promised the people of the Philippines that when it can be safely done the tie which binds them to us will be severed. The way of Taft and Cameron Forbes prepared for that happy consummation. But we fear that the way of General Wood will be an irritant ending in trouble. This is no reflection upon the character and the good intentions of General Wood. But the habits of a life time are not easily overcome. The soldier over the civilian has never made for a happy situation.

FOR ELYRIA'S MUSIC LOVERS

The Musical Art Society is bringing forth a strong program again for the edification of and support by the people of Elyria. The Musical Art Society is endeavoring to make it possible for music lovers, and those whose tastes may be developed, to enjoy the same high order of program as is found in Cleveland and other large music centers.

They have engaged this year two soloists, and the New York String Quartet. Miss Mabel Garrison, soprano, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, is to be the first one on their program and she is to appear in the city this month. Clarence Whitehall, baritone, is to be here later in the winter.

Those who are familiar with the leading artists of the country will need no introduction to the artists upon this program, and those who are not, may rest assured, from the comments by art critics, that the program as furnished by the Musical Art Society for this season in Elyria will strengthen the Society in the confidence it has upon the people of the city.

WALTER W. HEAD

Country bankers are pleased over the fact that there has just been elected as president of the American Banker's Association a man who was born and raised on a farm and who today is not only the head of a great banking institution which does business in many States, but who owns a 2,200-acre farm near St. Joseph, Mo., and is a practical farmer. Walter William Head, who was advanced from first vice president to president of the association at the forty-ninth annual convention held in Atlantic City recently, was born in Adrian, Ill., received a normal school and business college education and for several years was a country school teacher. He left teaching in 1903 to go into banking. He became cashier of the Dekalb, Mo., State Bank and from 1906 to 1908 was state and national bank examiner. In 1908 he became cashier of the American National Bank of St. Joseph, Mo., remaining there until 1917. In that year he was elected vice president of the Omaha National Bank and became its president in 1920, which position he holds today.

Mr. Head is also president of the Omaha Safe Deposit Company and the Omaha Trust Company and vice president of the American National Bank of St. Joseph and of the St. Joseph Life Insurance Company. He is also a director of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company.

POEMS THAT LIVE

THE NUN

If you become a nun, dear,
A friar I will be;
In any cell you run dear,
Pray look behind for me.
The roses all turn pale, too;
The doves all take the veil, too;
The blind will see the show.
What! you become a nun, my dear?
I'll not believe it, no!

If you become a nun, dear,
The bishop Love will be:
The cupid's every one, dear.
Will chant 'We Trust in Thee.'
The incense will go sighing,
The candles fall a-dying,
The water turn to wine;
What! you go take the vows, my dear?
You may—but they'll be mine!

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"REJECT TURKISH TREATY," GERARD URGES U. S. SENATORS

James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany, urges the Senate to reject the treaty negotiated with Turkey at Lausanne last August, in a statement made public recently by American Committee for the Independence of Armenia. In summing up his arguments at the end of the statement, Mr. Gerard said:

JAMES W. GERARD

"It is an indefensible treaty — morally. It renders impossible the continuance of American educational and philanthropic enterprises in Turkey, and ignores our solemn pledges to Armenia. The economic concessions which it purports to secure for a few Americans— since transferred to a foreign group—under the formula of the open door and which constituted the consideration for America's time-honored rights in Turkey and for her betrayal of Armenia, are now admitted to be of dubious value. The Turks have already violated their promises of good behavior toward our missionaries and the remnants of the Christians. All the reports which have recently reached the outside world from Turkish and foreign sources show that partisans armed conflicts, widespread banditry and hopeless economic chaos seriously threaten Kemal's regime, and that the task which confronts the Government is, according to the admission of its own leaders, a superhuman one.

Says America Should Wait.

"The conclusions to be drawn from the foregoing facts and arguments are that, by now surrendering our rights to Kemal, we shall find it difficult to reassert them against the regime which may, any day, overthrow and succeed Kemal, and that it would be the part of wisdom to wait and observe the Turks at work for a reasonable time to determine intelligently the course which we should pursue.

"The honor of America, no less than every dictate of reason, demands that the Senate reject the Turkish treaty."

Mr. Gerard declared that the United States, in accepting the Turkish treaty, would go back on the declaration of the seven points of the American policy made by the Department of State last October, to the effect that America was interested in the maintenance of capitulations, protection of American philanthropic institutions, indemnity for damages suffered by Americans, freedom of the straits, opportunity for archeological research, the open door and protection of minorities.

Under the Lausanne treaty, Mr Gerald pointed out, we had given up our seven points. We had abandoned capitulations and had allowed our missionary institutions in Turkey to become subject to Turkish laws, he said. We had failed to settle the question of indemnity for damages suffered by Americans through the burning of Smyrna, confiscation and destruction of missionary property, and denials of justice by the Ottoman Government.

Strait Concessions "Illusionary."

As to the freedom of the straits, he said, we had secured "an illusory concession of a right which we have always possessed." We had secured the same right for archeological research as are enjoyed by Turkish archeologists, he went on, but there are no Turkish archeologists, so that our scholars will have to wait indefinitely to make important researches.

Regarding the open door, Mr. Gerard said that the treaty merely gave us "the privilege to trade with and invest in Turkey—as in the past." But he said there were few opportunities in Turkey for American capital. With almost no industry and an archaic agricultural system, he said Turkey wants almost nothing. He charged the American Government with showing poor judgment in lending support to the Chester concession, which he termed "a project which was obviously impossible of a successful culmination." In granting the concession, he said, the Turks hoped to get an American loan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The forecast and estimates for the principal crops issued this afternoon by the department of agriculture show a slight reduction from the September forecast except in the case of potatoes, hay and flaxseed.

FRENCH REJECT ARBITRATION ON RUHR

Communist Charge of Disloyalty Against Stinnes Explodes

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Premier Poincare today flatly rejected the German proposal for a French, Belgian and German commission to settle the Ruhr problem through direct negotiations. It had previously been rejected by Belgium

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—Communist charges of disloyalty against Hugo Stinnes, Germany's foremost industrial magnate, were exploded today by Stinnes official explanation of his visit to Dusseldorf to confer on Ruhr affairs with General Degoutte commander of the French army in the Ruhr.

It was stated that the Stresemann cabinet did not object to Stinnes visit. Stinnes did not see Chancellor Stresemann before his departure, but he has an alibi: he tried to se the chancellor but the latter was too busy with the ministerial crisis to grant an audience.

headed many patriotic organizations.

The name of Oscar Peltz was also given. He died a valiant death shortly before the armistice was signed. John W. Hoffman, who also died with his leggins on, and Lt. Richey, first Elyrian to die in action and who was killed before America barely realized that they were in the World War, are also mentioned for the honor.

Who May Belong

The name of Dr. Ralph Powers is also suggested. Dr. Ralph Powers died while administering to the stricken in far off Siberia. Then the post may be named after the greatest Elyria hero—maybe the holder of a congressional medal. The name of Major Roy E. Hultz and of Capt. Murbach are also mentioned but it is likely that the post will be made in honor of someone who paid the price or in honor of some mother who may have had two or three sons killed in battle.

The men who belong to the Veterans of Foreign Wars are the men who saw the actual service. It may have been at Cantigny, Chateau-Thiery, St. Mihiel or in the Argonne, in Italy, in Siberia, in the Boxer uprising in China, the invasion of Cuba in the Spanish-American war, the invasion of Mexico in in 1916 or the subduing of the insurrection in the Philippines.

"Powder River"

The local post will bring to Elyria the Veterans of Foreign Wars exclusive actual war films, recognized by the Allies as the official pictures and which has been named "Powder River." It is a seven reel film, despicting many of the battles in which Lorain county boys participated. Some of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will recognize themselves or their buddies. It shows actual ghastly scenes of the battle field—actual charge over the top, being gassed, bayonet charge, hand grenade warfare at close range and actual destruction of body and property.

The film leaves an indelible impression of the eligibility of a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Officers elected last night include Otto Mischka, commander; G. A. Baker, adjutant; George H. Allen, quartermaster; John S. Sipes, senior vice commander; Blake E. Waldron, junior vice commander; George F. Carnall, chaplain and Howard A. Vosburgh, officer of the day.

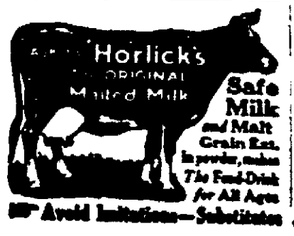

The post will co-operate with the Legion for the Legion Minstrel Show on Nov. 8th and 9th.

Start Agitation For A New County Court House Here

they are without adequate quarters. The room used by them adjoins a small room now occupied by the two judges, and the operation of typewriters in this room is annoying to the judges who may be engaged in consultation or in the writing of opinions and examination of the law, which is constantly necessary in their case.

"In late years assignment commissioners have been added to the list of court officers, their duties being to assign cases for trial or hearing before the two judges. The room is a small one, adjacent to Court Room No. 1, but this room might be sufficient for their work were not the same used by attorneys for consultation and as a smoke room.

"The Clerk's office is hampered for lack of room. All the filing space has already been utilized and it has been necessary to erect filing cases in the corridor. In addition numerous old files and documents in connection with the office are stored in the attic of the court house, where dust and dirt accumulate on them, and there is great danger of the loss of valuable papers.

"The rooms now designed for the use of the juries in the discussion and determination of cases submitted to them are small, poorly lighted and ventilated, unsanitary and entirely inadequate. One jury room is entirely devoid of accommodations for ladies, who are now being drawn on juries, the other room has such conveniences, but is entirely unfit for mixed juries.

"As the Court house was constructed long before a sewer system was established in the City of Elyria, the same was not provided when built with sufficient sanitary appliances such as are now used or which are necessary for the proper accommodation of the public visiting the court house or the officers engaged therein. Adequate toilet facilities should be provided for the exclusive use of the employes of the court house as well as the public.

"No Witness Rooms"

"There is a total absence of rooms for the accommodation of witnesses who are compelled by legal process to attend court and who, by order of the trial judges, are excluded from the court room. The result is that witnesses of both sexes are compelled to stand in the corridor of the second floor, where contact with them may be had by persons interested in litigation, and through which corridor the judges and jurors are compelled to thread their way in order to reach the quarters assigned to them.

"The room now occupied by the Law Library was originally designed as a grand jury room. Owing to the growth of this department its quarters are overcrowded and the room is probably overweighted, books being even piled on the floor and others shelved in the corridor.

"The Sheriff's office is inadequate, notwithstanding the fact that a few years ago a probate office for the Sheriff was taken off of one of the jury rooms.

"On the main floor the rooms assigned to the Probate Court are inadequate. There is barely room for the necessary office help, and the vault is overcrowded and valuable papers and books and records are stored without proper protection from fire or theft. As this court has charge of appropriation proceedings, whenever it is necessary to empanel a jury for such cases the Probate Judge has either to postpone such cases or discommode one of the Common Pleas judges in order to use one of the court rooms on the upper floor.

"The County Auditor is overcrowded in his quarters and as the Tax Department which comes under his jurisdiction is located in the basement, far removed from the main office, there is great inconvenience to the department and the public alike.

Offices Overcrowded

"The County Treasurer's department is short of room for the proper accommodation of the public and the office alike.

"The County Recorder's office is overcrowded and additional vault room for the records will soon be a matter of absolute necessity for the protection of invaluable public records.

"The County Surveyor and the Tax Map Department are housed in the basement in rooms that are poorly lighted and inadequate. As all the basement rooms are partially underground they cannot be regarded as desirable places from the standpoint of the health of the employes engaged therein. Adequate toilet facilities should be provided for the exclusive use of the employes of the court house as well as the public.

Revelations of a Wife

What Madge Did to Help Dicky Help Himself.

It needed no great degree of either feminine intuition or masculine logic for me to see that for some reason Dicky did not wish me to examine too closely the bandage which protected the wound on his head, and the terrified anxiety which I had felt for him began to be tinged with a vague suspicion that there was something queer about the accident which he had suffered.

At any rate, I told myself, he was not so badly injured as to preclude his being decidedly cross, and I remembered with much comfort, an old-fashioned saying, "When they're ugly they're in no danger."

But with a craft of which I was ashamed, yet which seemed to have taken possession of me, willy nilly, I resolved that in some way I would get a look at the bandages which Dicky seemed so anxious to keep from my observation.

It was, therefore, in the most casual manner that I straightened from my stooping posture, and said quietly:

"Yes, I suppose it would hurt less if you attended to it, yourself. If you can spare me, I'll slip out to the kitchen and prepare a sterilized solution with which you can wash the cut."

"For Pete's sake," Dicky growled, "don't begin any of that imitation trained nurse dope! Water from the tap will be plenty good enough for me when I feel fit enough to attend to it."

Madge Is Diplomatic.

His tone and words would have completely discouraged anyone not used to him. But the remembrance of other sick-room experiences with my husband taught me that not only would he use the things I had prepared, but that he would be decidedly disappointed and disagreeable if I did not prepare them.

"All right," I said soothingly. "But I'll get a basin and cloths ready before I go back to bed."

His eyelids flickered at that, and I knew that I had set him to wondering whether I really meant to leave him alone. I wasted no time in any further words, but slipped out to the kitchen and prepared the solution, putting it in a large covered dish which I kept. I carried it to the bathroom, and set it on the tiny table, beside a basin, and laid nearby bandages, gauze and scissors.

While in the kitchen, I had snatched the opportunity to set a pot of coffee of extra strength over the fire, and by the time I had arranged the table in the bathroom for Dicky's use, I knew from the aroma which floated through the halls that it was ready. Hurrying back to the kitchen, I prepared a cup as Dicky best liked it, and carried it into the front room.

"Let Me Play Valet."

He was lying as I had left him, but his eyes were wide open, and he was staring at the wall opposite him. I pronounced his name twice before he turned his eyes toward me, and even then I had a queer little feeling that he did not see me that instead there was something else which his brain was visioning.

And then, with a little start, the odd visioning look left his face, and his eyes turned to mine with something in them which set me to speculating morbidly. For it was almost a remorseful look which his eyes held, and while his general grouchiness might have called for apology, there was no occasion that I knew for anything stronger.

"Oh! Coffee!" he said in such sprightly fashion that my suspicions deepened. Such nonchalant glibness must have taken a distinct effort with the pain which he was patently suffering. "Now you're talking! That for me!"

He raised himself on his elbow with an attempt at jauntiness which ended in an involuntary little groan. But I had set down the coffee upon a convenient chair, and my arm went round him just in time to prevent his sinking back again.

"Let me play valet," I coaxed, and reaching for the coffee, I held it to his lips, while he drained it. I knew that it was a sure stimulus for him, and I was not surprised a few seconds later to see him sit up determinedly, and get out of the bed.

"Where's your dope?" He grinned at me comprehendingly. "I know you made it, of course, and I appreciate it even though I am a pig-headed grouch."

"In the bathroom," I returned. "You'll find everything you need, but are you sure I can't help you?"

"Not just now. I'll call you if I need another bandage put on."

He kept his word and, after a few minutes, summoned me to the bath room. He had cleansed the wound —luckily not a serious one—but though my eyes went quickly, furtively, to every corner of the room, there was no trace of the bandages which he had taken off.

courses was served in the dining room, where a color motif of pink and white was utilized. A basket of roses centered the table at which places were found by means of dainty cards attached to pink rose buds. SAFEST WAY TO GET RID OF A COLD

TAKE FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

If you have a cold and start taking "immediate relief" medicines, you are gambling with health and even life itself. Such medicines depend upon narcotics which paralyze the nerves and allow the cold to become deeply seated in your system

The logical way to treat a cold is by using Father John's Medicine, which gives strength to throw off the impurities, soothes and heals the lining of the breathing passages, and in the natural way helps your system to entirely get rid of the cold.

The basis of Father John's Medicine has always been cod liver oil, and by our scientific process it is so compounded with other ingredients that it is readily taken up even by a weakened digestive system. It is guaranteed free from narcotic drugs or stimulants.—Advt.

SENATOR WILLIS SAYS ADVERTISING EFFECTIVE

CINCINNATI, Oct. 10. — "I know advertising is effective, because it beat me in two political races in Ohio," said Senator Frank B. Willis yesterday at a meeting of the national posters association. "The government should use more advertising. Advertising is education put up in capsule form. The west has grown into an empire because the people know how to advertise their wares. Booths and bill boards near every little western town proclaim the merits of that community as a place to reside, while an eastern town with better facilities will wait in solemn dignified pride for the traveller to dig out information for himself."

DRINK WATER WHEN KIDNEYS HURT YOU

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advt.

Physical Health means— Beauty!

HEALTH and beauty go hand in hand. Where the system is down—the face drawn and haggard—the body limp and lifeless—beauty is missing. Looks of pity supplant those that might have won gazes of admiration. To restore your health and beauty you must take care of herself. S. S. S.—the rich blood builder—rekindles the spark of health and lights the blaze of beauty by building red blood cells. The nerve power of your system finds life in these very blood cells. Build more red blood cells and your nerve power will increase. S. S. S. builds them. Rich blood will tingle through your system. That lost charm will return. Your entire system will be revived. You will be ready to cope with the impurities and blemishes that handicap beauty.

As physical health means beauty so too, does S. S. S. mean beauty. S. S. S. means systems that are free from impurities—pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema, rheumatism. S. S. S. and good health go hand in hand.

S. S. S. is made of pure vegetable ingredients. It is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c

LET THE TURN-TABLE TELL THE DIFFERENCE IN PHONOGRAPHS

How the New Edison Re-Creates music in the exact tones of famous artists is shown in the Turn-Table test. We will gladly demonstrate this with no obligation to you in your final choice, but it may surprise you to know there could be so much difference in phonograph music.

Three other high-grade phonographs are placed beside the New Edison on a Turn-Table. You sit before it and listen to any music you like—notice the fine shading of sound, the rich, full quality of voice and orchestral instruments. Then listen to the same selections by the same artists, on each of the other phonographs.

You can easily decide by this simple test which phonograph will give you greatest pleasure—which inspires your imagination and suits your musical taste. May we show you this test?

Notice to Manufacturers: The talking machines used in these tests are kept by us in the best possible condition. Manufacturers of such machines or their representatives are invited to inspect them, or to substitute other machines of the same make, of their own selection, of equal or greater value, at any time during business hours.

150 ATTEND OPENING MEET OF THE WOMAN'S CIVIC CLUB

The first meeting of the Woman's Civic Club, for the year 1923-24, was held in the Gates room of the First Congregational church Tuesday, October 9th, with one hundred and fifty members present.

Promptly at 2:30 the new president, Mrs. B. E. Saunders, called the meeting to order and the first ten minutes were spent in singing, led by Mrs. J. W. Smith, after which Mrs. Saunders made a few welcoming remarks and outlined the plans for the coming year.

The report of the secretary and treasurer were then read and approved, also a report on the scholarship fund was given by Mrs. S. E. Hitt. Following these reports was conducted the business of the afternoon.

Miss Maud Eleanor Davies than sang a group of songs in a very pleasing manner, which were greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Saunders called on Mrs. A. H. Hancock, who gave a report of the work done by the Child Welfare Department and the Department of Civics and Social Service. These two departments have accomplished a great deal in the past year, and are now combined as the Department of Child Welfare and Social Service with Mrs. Hancock as chairman.

The latter part of the afternoon was given over to reports of the Steubenville convention given by Mrs. J. H. Hurst and the Lakeside Federation meeting, given by Mrs. R. H. Harrison. These reports were both so remarkable that Mrs. Saunders, feeling they should have especial recognition, called for a vote of thanks from the club, to these two ladies, which was most heartily given.

At the close of the afternoon, refreshments were served by a committee from the Department of Child Welfare and Social Service, who were the hostesses of the day.

MEMBER OF NATIONAL BOARD TELLS OF WORK OF Y. W. C. A.

A group of Elyria women gathered at the Y. W. C. A. yesterday at one o'clock for a luncheon meeting to hear Miss L'Hommedieu of the National Board of New York City speak.

Prior to her address and before introducing Miss Elsie Jane Seymour, Mrs. William Graves Sharp, as chairman, stated that last year, the Educational Group had studied "World Conditions" and had heard speakers of international note; this year, the Group was to study "The Y. W. C. A. in the Community, the City and the World" and stated that one-third of the funds received from the year's work would be forwarded to the National Board.

Miss Seymour spoke interestingly of conditions in Association circles in Japan, particularly of the effects of the recent earthquake, as shown by a portion of a letter just received from Yokahoma telling that all the "Y" buildings had been destroyed. This letter gave the membership in the Yokahoma Association as being 790 and in Tokio as 1000. Forty percent of the expense of providing and maintaining these institutions had been borne by the Japanese. In concluding, Miss Seymour stated that she had faith in the character of the peoples in Japan and in their ability "to re-bound."

The keynotes of Miss L'Hommedieu's remarks were, "We have got to prove our right to survive" and "Anything that has value in God's sight, is safe forevermore." She explained the work of the National Board, comparing it to the Board of Directors in the local Association. It was elected every two years to do certain things and had to render an account of all money spent. Its duty was to provide tools for local Associations to use. She said that the Y. W. C. A. had been able to cable ten thousand dollars to Japan in the recent disaster and a like amount some months ago to Smyrna because of its national character.

She reminded the women present that the Association had been in business for girls during the past sixty years and yet it was impossible for it as an organization to prove its usefulness once and for all. "We have to continually fight for things which save the world." She stated that the modern girl would not allow friends to do for her but that the Association could and must do things with her. It was not a charity.

Miss L'Hommedieu cited the "Y" work at Hollywood, at Ellis Island and in the Orient and most conclusively proved that the work must go forward, because it is concerned with the girl's whole life and because it believes that the girl's soul must have consideration. "It is a civic asset."

MCGRAW NOW HAS "BIG FIVE" TO SHOOT AT YANKS

As the daughty Giants mark time waiting for the Big Melee to start Manager-Owner Jawn McGraw feels a bit easier about his pitching situation than he did a few days ago. Art Nefh is one reason. After being an in-and-outer most of the season this hero of the 1922 series, clinched the pennant for his team with a brilliant exhibition of pitching. Then John Watson, ex-Brave, repented, accepted a heavy fine and got himself into shape to pitch again. He had been suspended for failure to obey orders. These additions give McGraw five sure-fire bets. Bill Ryan, Jack Bentley and John Scott being the other three. And in reserve McGraw has Hugh McQuillan.

Once more the Yankees are favored to lick McGraw's team, despite two thorough lickings. The tendency of the Giants to wobble at times this year and the uncertain work of McGraw's pitchers are the main reasons. However, McGraw may hypnotize the Yank batters again.

JUMP FROM $39 CLERK TO MILLIONAIRE DOESN'T SURPRISE HIS YOUNG WIFE

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Billingsley.

When Glenn Billingsley, clerking in a Wichita, Kan., store for $39 a week suddenly found he owned millions of dollars worth of New York property he was a bit flustered. But his young wife wasn't. "I had dreamed repeatedly that Glenn would become rich suddenly," said she, "so I knew just what I'd do." The couple are now in New York where Billingsley is handling his interests in an apartment hotel covering thirty city blocks, and owned by his father, whom he recently located.

SEPARATIST MEETING BECOMES RIOT, HUNDREDS ARE SHOT

View of main thoroughfare of Dusseldorf.

What started out as a mass meeting of separatists in Dusseldorf in the Ruhr district, became a bloody riot when security police and communists fired upon each other and a score of persons were killed and over a hundred wounded. French authorities blame the police for the trouble.

WILL ZR-1 REACH IN HOURS GOAL EXPLORERS SOUGHT FOR YEARS?

The ZR-1 and some famous explorers who have sought the poles. Above, Captain Roald Amundsen, left, and Captain Robert Scott. At right, center, Vilhjalmur Stefansson. Below, left to right, Captain Robert A. Bartlett, Admiral Peary, Donald MacMillan and Sir Ernest Shackleton.

The successful flight of the ZR-1 since its launching recently has convinced experts that it can make successfully the proposed trip to the North Pole next summer. If such a trip is intended the time consumed will be but a matter of hours (a few days at the most). The commander and crew of the giant dirigible will thus achieve what explorers, past and present, have sought in vain—with the exception of Peary—to accomplish. Data for which the men above and scores of others risked and even gave their lives in the dreary months of arctic travel will be collected with no small degree of physical comfort by those on board the ZR-1.

FATE MADE HER WONDROUS BEAUTY; NOW MAKES RUBYE'S LIFE A TRAGEDY

PLAIN GOWN FOR BUSINESS WEAR

The "Jiffy" frock comes in a number of simple designs conceived especially for the business woman. The one pictured is made of blue twill with just a touch of bright color trimming collar, cuffs and used as a piping.

Rubye de Remer. This photo was taken at the time Paul Helleu, famous French artist, proclaimed her the most beautiful woman in America.

Fate, which chose to make Rubye de Remer one of the world's most beautiful women, to be adored by painters and sculptors and sought by motion picture producers, has now cast her adrift, according to word from Denver. She faces now the loss of the last bit of happiness in her life—the companionship of the man to whom she practically has given her life of recent years. He is the son of a Pittsburg millionaire. His wife, now abroad, refuses to divorce him. His father has hired aid in an effort to part his son and the former reigning beauty.

WILL GIANT'S MANAGER REPENT?

John McGraw.

SIMPLE LINES MARK CLEVER FROCKS

All three of the frocks shown have very simple lines but are rather unique in trimming. On the left a black frock of moire silk has a side trim of ruffles down the skirt and the tight fitting cuffs also have a flounce finish. Canton crepe is used for another afternoon frock, shown at the right. It is a sleeveless model and has an interlacing of moire ribbon as its distinctive note. The little evening gown in the middle depends on its material to give it distinction. It is one of those metal brocades in delicate colors. The girdle suggests the once popular bandeau.

HURTS CRIPPLE FAST EAGLE ELEVEN

Owens, Jacobs and Bardon Out of Game; Battle With Barbers Delayed

By W. E. RAINEY

Suffering three injuries since the start of the season, halfback Owens, who is out of the game with a badly wrenched knee received in the opening game at Sandusky, Capt. Jacobs, with a sprained ankle, and halfback Stanley Bardon, with a broken leg received in the game with the K. & B. barbers last Sunday, the Eagle gridders resume training last night in preparation for their next battle, next Sunday at Riverview Park, against the fast Lorain Maroons, who held the strong Ruth Pros. of Amherst two weeks ago to the score of 18 and 6.

The Eagles will put in their time this week in perfecting their line more fully and developing he ends and backs in the art of stopping any aerial attack which might be directed against them, as the Marcons are said to be "devils" in this line of attack and a schedule of hard drilling is on the boards.

Sunday's game against the Barbers was the most valuable part of the Eagles' training season. In it the players were given a taste of real football which will be digested this week. Not only were the players benefited, but the coach was given an opportunity to see how his men were performing and to select from those new men used in the game, the ones who will be most valuable to the team for the season.

The Maroons are said to be a tough proposition and to be ready for their line of attack when the whistle blows, the Eagles will practice again on Thursday and Friday nights at 7:30 at Riverview Park.

Correcting a statement made in last evenings paper in regarding a game to be played with the K. & B. Barbers on October 28th This statement is without foundation as the Eagles will not meet the Barbers again until the middle of November.

Laughing Gas Barrage On The World Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Long before the sun began doing its stuff today several hundred baseball fans were lined up at general admission gates of the Yankee stadium. One wife sent a wire of thanks to John McGraw. She said it was the first time she's been able to get her husband out of bed in the morning since last October

A Brooklyn man claimed he had been waiting in line so long that he forgot what he was waiting for

He went home to find out and when he came back his place was gone.

Another guy went up to the box office and said he planned on seeing all the games but he didn't have any money. He wanted to know if he could open a charge account.

He wasn't exactly tight, but he wouldn't have paid cash to see Santa Claus play the Salvation Army.

He said he walked all the way from St. Louis to bet on the Yankees. The chances are he'll have to walk back there, too.

Of course, the Yankees have a good chance of copping, the only thing that could possibly keep them from winning it is the Giants

But the games will be on the square. Judge Landis has given us cleaner baseball and fresher peanuts.

There's bound to be a lot of excitement this afternoon. Babe Ruth has promised to put the ball over the fence even if he has to send it by express

So far the hero of the world's series has not been picked, but Judging from the number of cops they've got around the gates, it'll probably be the fellow who gets in for nothing

One of the umpires bought a couple of tickets to give away. With 65,000 people in the stadium he wants to have at least two friends among them.

Nobody seems to want to guess on the outcome of today's game except Miller Huggins and yesterday he won the world series in the Yankee's locker room.

He called all the players together and told them that they were going to win the pennant. When McGraw heard about it he got so sore he tried to have Huggins arrested for perjury.

But the manager of the Yankees has hired a first class orchestra and every time Babe Ruth steps up to the bat he's going to have them start playing, "There's no place like home"

Thousands of women are expected at the stadium today but most of them will sit in a different section of the bleachers so that the men can enjoy the game too.

The only way one guy could keep his wife away from the Yankee ball park was by telling her the world's series was being played between Pittsburgh and Chicago.

But you couldn't fool her, she was too smart She knew all about who was playing, that's why she's gone to Boston

The betting around New York is very heavy A lot of guys are such reckless gamblers that they're willing to bet the shirt off their back but they've taken the precaution to put on an extra suit of underwear.

So much money has been placed on the Giants that if the Yankees win, half the men in the bleachers will look like they've been playing strip poker

The weather here is so chilly that the fans who haven't been able to get their overcoats out of pawn are taking hot water bags along with them.

Whether the Giants or Yankees win this afternoon's game the balance of them will be just as sore, because the man who invented baseball did such a good job of it that he made it impossible for both teams to lose the world's series.

LANDIS TO GOVERN GROUND CONDITIONS

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—It was announced that today following a meeting between Judge Landis and the umpires that will officiate at the world's series, Bill Evans, Dick Nallin, Hank O'Day and Bob Hart, the commissioner declared that he would take full responsibility of deciding weather and ground conditions for the games This was taken to mean that the commissioner intended to prevent a repetition of last year's disorder after the second game of the series, which was called by Umpire Hildebrand with the sun still above the horizon.
